Juvenile Justice Youth Advisory Council

DCJS and the NYS Juvenile Justice Advisory Group (JJAG) are committed to establishing a state-wide youth advisory council and formalizing a process to regularly receive input and feedback from young people regarding juvenile justice policies and practices. This advisory committee works with state and local leadership to address the thoughts and concerns of young people through the development and implementation of peer-led projects. Targeted focus groups will be facilitated in an effort to gather information and evaluate existing programmatic efforts. Council members are also involved in the development of outreach strategies and resource materials for youth and other community members; and serve as representatives to the JJAG and other justice-related committees.

If you are (aware of) a young person between the ages of 16 and 24 who has demonstrated strong leadership and communication skills, a personal interest in and/or experience with the juvenile justice system and would like to participate in the type of activities described above please complete this information form and forward it to:
